

Breaking Your Lease

You are responsible for paying rent every month for the entirety of your lease or until your apartment is rented, whichever comes first**

If for any reason you have to move out of your apartment prior to your lease end date, the following steps describe what to do.

Step 1: Completely move out - Empty and clean your apartment.

Step 2: Return your keys to the office - Make sure to label them if you drop them in the drop slot (which is next to the front door of the office at 104 Grant Street, Portland). We will only show your apartment after we get the keys. Don't forget; if we don't get all keys that were given to you, you will have to pay $100 for a lock change. Please note that we may raise the rent according to market value.

Step 3: Wait for your apartment to rent - You still need to pay rent until you hear from us that it is rented. It can take up to 2 weeks for our Turnover department to get the apartment move-in ready for the next tenant. *Note: We may increase the rental price while trying to re-rent your apartment. We can't guarantee a date for when your apartment could be rented by (depends on demand, the market, seasonality etc.) A prospect may hold an apartment for up to 30 days after they put a deposit down. You are responsible up until a lease is signed.

This is the only option for tenants to get out of their lease. We do not allow subletting or lease takovers. For questions please direct them to Stephanie at stephanie@portpropmgt.com; 761-0832 ext. 1123

You must pay back any move-in specials and/or concessions you received if you break your lease
